Format of Church Listings

Parochial Statistics

In accordance with Resolution A104 (amending Title I, Canon 6) adopted at the 73rd General Convention meeting in Denver, Colorado, a summary of statistical information is printed with each church listing. This information was taken from the most recent Parochial Report submitted by each congregation.

Clergy Staff

Titles assigned to clergy reflect a wide range of usage in the Diocese and around the whole church. For purposes of this Journal the following titles are used in the manner listed below:

Rector - full time member of the clergy in charge of a parish

Vicar - full time member of the clergy in charge of a mission

Assistant - full time member of the clergy serving under the authority and direction of the Rector

Canon - Assistant clergy serving on a cathedral or diocesan staff, or an honorary title conferred by the Bishop

Priest-in-Charge - member of the clergy serving part time, often in an interim capacity and responsible for sacerdotal ministry

Associate - member of the clergy serving part time and under the authority and direction of the Rector or Vicar.

Retired Associate -retired member of the clergy serving part time and under the authority and direction of the Rector or Vicar

Lay Staff

Priority has been given to listing lay staff who are the initial contacts in each church office. A complete listing of lay staff may be available from each church office at the discretion of the Rector or Vicar. See note below for more detailed information.

Addresses

Home addresses for Wardens are provided in these listings. Home addresses for clergy are found in the appropriate section following the church listings or on the diocesan web site <http://www.cfdiocese.org/our-clergy> Please contact your Rector/Vicar or the diocesan office for the user name and password for the restricted section of these directories.

For the Diocese

O God, by your grace you have called us in this Diocese to a goodly fellowship of faith. Bless our Bishop Gregory and other clergy, and all our people. Grant that your Word may be truly preached and truly heard, your Sacraments faithfully administered and faithfully received. By your Spirit, fashion our lives according to the example of your Son, and grant that we may show the power of your love to all among whom we live; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

The Minister of the Congregation is directed to instruct the people, from time to time, about the duty of Christian parents to make prudent provision for the well-being of their families, and of all persons to make wills, while they are in health, arranging for the disposal of their temporal goods, not neglecting, if they are able, to leave bequests for religious and charitable uses.

Appendix C

Diocesan Convention Address, January 25, 2020 The Rt. Rev. Gregory O. Brewer, Bishop

Before I get into the address proper, I just want to briefly say that even though it takes a tremendous amount of work to put an event of this size together, it is just a joy to be here, and to be together. Last night at the Communion service, there was such a remarkable sense of wholeness, a sense of “We're here together.”

There are a number of people who were not here last night who are here this morning and I'm very glad that you are here this morning, but I want to say, you missed it, if you weren't here last night, in terms of the extraordinary level of what we received musically as well as the very fine sermon from Canon Russell, as well as casting our first vote together, which, if everyone had been present, might have had a different outcome. There were enough people not here that are here now that could have shifted the election. So this is where we trust God, right? But it's great for all of us to be together. On the screen behind me you will see the collect from last Sunday. Let us please pray this together: "Almighty God, whose son our Savior Jesus Christ is the light of the world: Grant that your people, illumined by your word and sacraments, may shine with the radiance of Christ's glory, that he may be known, worshipped and obeyed to the ends of the earth; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who with you and the Holy Spirit, lives and reigns, one God, now and forever. Amen."

If there is a collect in the entire prayer book that connects directly with the theme of this event, "Light of the world, Salt of the earth," it is this one because it states as fact, in the same way as you are the light of the world, that God would give us what we need to be that light, shining with the radiance of Christ's glory. That's what happens to the people of God as they enter into worship, as they hear and ponder God's Word together.

As we read the Bible, as we listen to the Scriptures being read, God is in that moment, releasing the light of his presence. Whether we feel it or not is quite beside the point. The Word of God does not return void, and so that when the Word of God is read, something is released. The very presence of God is released because of the power which that word has, that naturally, supernaturally, touches the inner life that God has implanted in the life of the believer.

There's a kind of inhale, exhale that happens as the Word begins to not only be read but also to be imparted, because that's the work that the Holy Spirit does. And the same occurs as we receive the sacraments. I know that if your experiences similar to mine, when I come up to receive the Eucharist, sometimes it is a personal, often emotional, encounter with the living God.

Other times – nothing. Right? Are you there? I go through it, and I do it as an act of faith, but as a personal experience, besides the receiving of the bread and wine itself, it's not necessarily Paul on the road to Damascus. Again, God promises to feed us – a different analogy – with his very presence, as we receive the bread and the wine. And so there too the radiance of Christ's glory is being imparted to us, both in the reading of Scripture as well as the receiving of the sacraments. And out of that God works in us that which we need to be able to step forward in what it is that he has already given us, as men and women who are by his declaration, because [of] what he has worked in us, [the] light of the world.

You see, Christ, as Canon Russell reminded us last night, is also the light of the world. And because we are in Christ, God pours that same light, the light of Christ, into us so that God might use us as a light to draw other people to Christ.

It's not just something that we are receiving, by virtue of who we are as members of his body and who is Jesus? He is the one who's out there. God is the one leading the mission. And so as we are saying yes to him, and receiving what it is that he gives us, it is his intention that we not only receive, but be a channel, a vessel.

So we receive the magnificent gift of the light of Christ. And in receiving that gift, we also receive our own vocational calling: God pouring the light of Christ within us, so that we can live both individually and together as communities of believers in a way that Christ Jesus may be known, worshipped and obeyed. That is what allows us to be light of the world, salt of the earth.

I have to tell you when we contemplate – or at least when I do – even briefly the idea that Jesus calls this gathering of poor sinners that we are, "the light of the world," literally, the light of the cosmos, "salt of the earth," I find it absolutely staggering. It seems impossible, too big to even imagine. And yet Jesus states this as fact, not as mere hope: "You are the light of the world, you are the salt of the earth." God is pouring his light in us and is also pouring his light through us into the world.

And while I certainly cannot comprehend the fullness of its meaning, I would like to offer some brief implications that could just – because when you really say, like in the very depths of who you are, "God has made us the light of the world" – I don't know; my back straightens up.

I feel like there's a dignity, there is a purpose about this, there is in fact, a life's work in it. And it does empower. As people who have received the light of Christ and are a channel for that light, we don't need to be afraid. What does it say in Psalm 27? "The Lord is my light and my salvation, of whom then shall I be afraid?" As Paul says, "Nothing can separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

So the answer, "Of whom shall I be afraid?" is "No one." "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." As people who have received that light of Christ, we can trust that God will not only empower us, but also guide us each step of the way because Jesus promises in John 8, "Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."

What does it say in the 23rd psalm? "He leads me along right pathways for his name's sake," even in the valley of the shadow of death. So not only is the light of Christ that which empowers me, it also operates, like a kind of halogen beam, that gives me the capacity to take one step at a time, trusting that no matter what's going on in my circumstances, God is working things for the good; he is empowering me with what I need to be able to meet even the most difficult of challenges. The promise of his guidance is not at all a promise to be free from hardship. It actually might lead us into hardship for the sake of the gospel, and yet, we will not walk in darkness.

As people have received the light of Christ, that light brings with us all that we need to fulfill the vocational calling of "Let your light so shine before others, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in heaven." In our day and age, what I believe many in the world are longing for are men and women who are willing to act with that kind of dignity, that kind of confidence, that kind of poise, even in the face of uncertainty, even in the face of great hardship. So that no matter what it is that we endure, we trust that God will never let us go. We trust he is holding us in the palm of his hand. He gives us what we need to face the worst of challenges, knowing that even when we feel nothing, we can still say, "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."

It is exactly that kind of witness among family, friends, neighbors, enemies, co-workers, that in the midst of the difficulties of life, God gives us the capacity to pray, to reach out in need and to walk with a sense of his possessing us that allows us to serve the world in that way. Because I believe in this day and age, to be the light of the world means to be a servant church, people who are willing to go out of their way to make a difference in the lives of other people.

The caricature of who we are in the media is that we're basically slightly mentally deranged, seriously dangerous, members of the Flat Earth Society, perhaps even financial swindlers or sexual predators. And for us to begin to actually be a witness among people who do not know Christ, we have the challenge of getting on the other side of whatever caricature they have of people who call themselves believers in Jesus.

And more often than not, the way that happens in being us is that we step out of our way. We choose to show up to make a difference, even if they are people that we do not know. Because God gives us the capacity to look beyond our own self-preoccupation, and to see the need.

The calling to be salt and light is the opportunity that God gives us to make a difference in this profoundly hurting community. That calling to be the light and salt came to us not long ago through Hurricane Dorian. Hurricane Dorian has been called the worst natural disaster in the history of the Bahamas, one of the most powerful hurricanes recorded in Atlantic Ocean. And when the storm struck, people flew into action, some of them literally catching the last few flights to Grand Bahama Island so that they could be available to be there and serve. Individuals and congregations began to mobilize. No gift was too small or too great. In fact, one of our youngest parishioners, Daniella Williams of St. Matthias, Clermont, caught the attention of the local regional news, and she sprang into action.

Watch this video [Video showing, <https://www.mynews13.com/fl/orlando/everyday-hero/2019/11/18/everyday-hero-girl-donates-stuffed-animals-to-children-impacted-by-hurricane-dorian#>]

Most Central Floridians know what it is to live through a hurricane, right? And out of that, funds began to pour in: gifts large and small, including a $10,000 anonymous gift from someone at Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy. It was not limited shot to our churches; the money we received was and continues to be sent directly to the Anglican Diocese of The Bahamas. As of this week, we're still getting funds. The total is over $264,000, easily one of the largest offerings to an emergency relief effort in our diocese's history.

And that total does not include the direct involvement of numerous individuals and congregations in the relief effort. I could take a long time giving you examples; a lot of people have helped out. The bishop of The Bahamas & The Turks & Caicos Islands, the Rt. Rev. Laish Boyd has expressed his sincerest gratitude; he is aware and knows of our prayers. He continues to send me very detailed reports of almost unimaginable damage, including some of the photographs you see on the screen.

At this point, the rebuilding has begun in earnest. Everyone who needed to be evacuated to the various islands has done so. Whole congregations have relocated, like from one of the islands in the Bahamas, the Abacos that [were] hit the hardest, to Grand Bahama Island, and the priest actually serves his parishioners who were in the Abacos in Grand Bahama Island. Emergency food distribution is ongoing, and Bishop Boyd continues to relay his sincerest and tremendous gratitude.

As true with Hurricane Dorian, servanthood does mean financial generosity. I was talking to a priest at dinner last night who was talking about the fact that he has a parishioner, even a vestry member, who gives almost nothing to the budget, but yells the loudest about wanting to make sure where that money goes.

It doesn't work that way. Servanthood means financial generosity. And within our own diocese, God honestly has blessed us financially. Though God does not always meet our wants, he does provide for our needs, and 2019 was no exception. As you will see later when the budget is presented, God has blessed our diocese, ending the fiscal year with a $50,000 surplus, and a balanced budget for 2020 was passed by the diocesan board with no deficit needing to be made up for out of invested returns. It has actually been a long time since that's happened.

A balanced budget is the result of several important factors. First of all, of course, is God, who promises to provide for all of our needs according to his riches in glory. Every good and perfect gift comes down from the Father of lights. But the second is the remarkable sense of fellowship and camaraderie that we share here. We understand in a way that just continues to grow in its impact that we are in mission together. And then the third is the generosity of our congregations. All of us in the diocese owe you congregations who give your assessment, a tremendous word of appreciation.

There continues to be this growing sense of shared financial responsibility. We are not in it for ourselves. The point of our budget is not to just pay the light bill.

The point is to have the kind of capacity to release new people into ministry, to inspire new opportunities for service, to continue to build overseas relationships with our sisters and brothers in the rest of the Anglican Communion. God help us if our budget is merely maintenance. It's bigger than that, far bigger than that.

I'm happy to give my own tithes and offerings and those of our family to make sure the staff gets paid, that things happen in the way that actually feels like it's orderly and people are taken care of. But the real point is, again, that he may be known, worshipped and obeyed to the ends of the earth, and that is in fact meant to be reflected, and even more importantly, in our financial documents. And this, I think, is beginning to catch fire in a way that for me is just tremendously exciting. And this is demonstrated by the trend upward in our congregational giving, and a trust that we have in those who manage our finances.

We have a superb Financial Commission, a strong diocesan board and an outstanding chief financial officer in Earl Pickett, all of whom contribute to a mutual sense of not only financial responsibility, but also of shared financial integrity. There is nothing that will drive away donors in your congregations [faster than] if they don't trust where the money goes. They have to believe that you see it as a steward from God, who's giving you these things for the management of his priorities to be expressed within the financial life of a church. And I'm grateful for the leaders who do that.

Last year marked a major milestone in the history of our diocese, our 50th anniversary. When we first envisioned celebrating this anniversary as a diocese, we wanted to get do something that would actually serve our community. And from that vision, 2019 started out with an unprecedented event. The Diocese of Central Florida hosted the largest gathering of Episcopalians in the history of the state of Florida. That's enormous. The prayers and a volunteer force of several hundred opened the doors at the First Baptist Church of Orlando, to over 4000 people to attend the” Say Yes to Jesus “revival. Many watched it also [via] livestream around the diocese.

Our Presiding Bishop, Michael Curry, preached a powerful sermon, and God used that event to touch of scores of people with the gospel. Remember, we had prayer teams all over that auditorium. And as soon as that began to happen, people just began to come forward for prayer. It wasn't just the fact that we did something to feel good about ourselves, although that sure happened. It also was – it made a remarkable eternal impact on the lives of those who planned it, including the people at First Baptist themselves, who were stunned that Episcopalians would even do such a thing.

It was not only the largest gathering of Episcopalians in the history of the state of Florida; it was also the largest of all of the revivals that the presiding bishop has ever conducted across the United States. As our Presiding Bishop and his staff shared with us, our “Say Yes to Jesus” revival was the very best they have ever been a part of.

Over this past year in my role as diocesan bishop I have participated in, and thoroughly enjoyed 36 Episcopal visits across the diocese at which I confirmed 178 people, received 98 into the life of the church and praying for 11 who renewed their baptismal vows. And that was with a 3-month sabbatical. Additionally, I visited numerous churches around the diocese, participating in funerals as well as in vestry events and parish social gatherings. I continue to serve on the board of the Canterbury Retreat & Conference Center – of which I'm a fan– and I'm a national chaplain for the Daughters of the King.

P. S. If you need prayer warriors, get the Daughters.

One of the joys of being a bishop is in the raising up of new leadership. In 2019 there were eight celebrations of new ministry in the diocese, including Tracy Dugger, Kathryn Jeffrey, Stuart Shelby and Charles Myers, Trey Garland, Tim Nunez and Jeremy Bergstrom. Eleven people were ordained to the priesthood, 10 to the diaconate during the past year.

And this coming Monday evening, the day after tomorrow, there will be a diocesan ordination of five additional candidates for the diaconate: Daniel Pinell from Berkeley, California, who is at Jesus de Nazaret, going to Grace Church, Ocala; Steven Heisler, sponsoring parish, St. Gabriel's, assigned to St. Mark's, Cocoa; Jennifer Grady, sponsoring parish and assignment at St. Francis in the Fields, Louisville, Kentucky; Beth Hall, sponsoring parish and assignment St. George in The Villages; and Joe Dewey, sponsoring parish Grace Church, Ocala, assignment, All Angels Episcopal Church, New York City.

These ordinations have not been limited to the Diocese of Central Florida. Our Canon for Vocations Justin Holcomb, our Commission on Ministry and our Standing Committee have been working together each year to raise up new clergy, not only in the diocese but also from around the country. In 2019 alone, I ordained Marcus Johnson in Geneva, Illinois; Becky Watts in College Station, Texas; Raleigh Langley, St. Francis in Louisville, Kentucky; B.J. Buracker, All Saints Chevy Chase; and Palmer Kennedy, Ascension, Lafayette, Louisiana. Our diocese is providing an invaluable service in raising up bright, thoughtful, prayerful and gifted clergy to serve in the wider Episcopal Church, all with the permission of their diocesan bishops, who are happy to receive them back.

While all ordination services are an honor and a privilege two priesthood ordinations from last year stood out as particularly remarkable. The first was the ordination of Jared Jones, chaplain at the Upper School of Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy in Melbourne. In his very short time serving there as chaplain, Jared has built a network of trust among students, administrators and faculty. And the extraordinary thing is that unchurched students start have started coming up to Jared and asking to be baptized. They say, "My family doesn't go to church. My church is our school chapel services. May I be baptized here?" And it's happening. Private school parochial people, take note.

So we thought it only fitting that Jared should be ordained at a school chapel service, a first for me, a wonderful event in the life of Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy, but interestingly enough, not their first ordination. A while ago, Rob Goodridge was also ordained at the chapel of Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy.

I just want to say as a P.S., and this is slightly off script: I love going to the schools. I love meeting with the religious servicepeople. I love meeting with the religious studies group of students, all of whom are all kinds of different religions because we, as policy, open the door to anyone, regardless of faith. But there are those who want to be a part of what it is that we're doing. The only stipulation we make is that if you come to our school, you do have to attend the chapel services and attend any required religious classes that we have, and most parents are absolutely fine with that. And the engagement that I have had, particularly with Hindu and Muslim students in those schools, has been nothing short of remarkable. It's really fun.

I want you to know that I have no sense that when I'm talking in an interreligious gathering, I have to sort of dumb the presentation down to a kind of "Well, we really all believe the same thing" universalism; just the opposite. It is an invitation, and what they want is for me to talk clearly about the distinctives of what it means to be a believer in Jesus Christ. They honor that; they respect that as a position; and they want to be in dialogue about how we are both similar and different. It is just one of the best opportunities right now. I love it.

Another ordination that stood out was the ordination of The Rev. Dr. Richard Gonzales, held at Messiah Winter Garden. What happened, you see, was that Richard came to this country originally in 1962, emigrating with his family from Cuba. So in the providence of God, as it just so happened, The Rt. Rev. Griselda Delgado del Carpio, Episcopal bishop of Cuba, was making her first visit to Central Florida at the very time of Rich's ordination.

So of course I invited Bishop Griselda to join me in the ordination. She joyfully accepted and to have two bishops – one from Rich's homeland and one from his now-home diocese – was for Richard coming full circle, and it was another both joyful and historic occasion, both in the Diocese of Central Florida and in the life of The Episcopal Church. I believe it is the first time that the bishop of Cuba and any Episcopal bishop of the United States jointly presided over an ordination. And she is amazing, by the way, worth getting to know if you don't know her, and she'll be back.

I continue to be involved in the life of the wider Episcopal Church and within the Communion. I serve at the invitation of the presiding bishop on a task force called Communion Across Differences that is charged with finding a way forward in the face of our theological differences, especially as it relates to gay marriage, but other things as well. And we don't skirt anything. And so as a result, it really can be tough slogging, and some of our theological differences seem intractable, perhaps even irreconcilable.

But we're working together. The very existence of this task force indicates that both in The Episcopal Church and in the Communion, we are still very much a divided house over the issue of same-sex marriage. And we are committed to trying to find a way to resolve these differences, both at the international level, as well as at The Episcopal Church level. This is not a power grab on either side. Some of us have participated in listening sessions, which actually were manipulative ways to get you to think differently. That's not what we're doing. But instead, there really is a concerted effort to continue to discern both within The Episcopal Church and the Communion.

Your continued prayers for this matters deeply and [is] deeply appreciated.

I recently was invited by my alma mater, Virginia Theological Seminary, to participate in a similar international consultation on the very same issues addressed by the Communion Across Difference task force. Bishops of various opinions, as well as some very talented theologians, not the least of which is The Rev. Dr. Katherine Sonderegger of VTS. Clergy, if you don't know her systematic [theology], she is worth it. It is lyrical, and it's doxological in terms of the way she writes about her doctrine of God. She was amazing, as were many of the other presentations.

I found that meeting to be refreshing because of the complete absence of both the frenetic urgency and the politically driven polemic that often marks our Episcopal conversations. None of that was there.

We were steeped in prayer; we were reminded by numerous presenters how long genuine discernment actually takes in the life of the history of our church, often at least a generation. Right now the consensus among us and the recent report from the primates gathered in Jordan, is that this matter is far from settled. And in the meantime, we are willing to walk together.

I want to say that so clearly because there is a sense among some that well, you can't really be a faithful Episcopalian and take a more conservative position on these ethical issues. And I'm here to tell you, that is absolutely not true at all. Even in the House of Bishops, where I stand up and speak as well as some of my other Communion partner bishops, while some people roll their eyes, the real truth is that there is a wonderful sense of mutual respect- a fact that I genuinely treasure.

Someone asked me not long ago if I felt like I was under pressure. Honestly, there is pressure, but there truly is grace, to be able to speak with great joy about what it is that we believe and understand the scripture to teach.

Moving on. Last year marked the seventh year of my episcopacy. And while this in itself was a cause for thanksgiving, I am grateful beyond measure to have the opportunity to serve and out of that meant that I contractually was eligible for a 3-month sabbatical. Thanks to the generosity of individuals from this diocese, I was able to take that sabbatical--actually, the only 3-month sabbatical I have been able to take over the 40-plus years of my ordained ministry, and it was glorious. Laura Lee and I can't thank you enough for making this restorative break possible. It was a time of refreshment and great fun, which included wonderful conversations with Anglican leaders in Ireland and in England--that was actually a conversation where Chris Russell and I talked.

It was also wonderful for Laura Lee and me, particularly as we took almost two weeks to hike the Canterbury Trail from Winchester to Canterbury, where it was just the two of us, except, of course for the wildlife we met along the way, which was – it was just wonderful.

God used that time to open my heart and to change me in a way that I actually didn't expect, although I'd been praying for it, opening my heart to a new kind of silence and to discern what God was calling me to do in these next few years in my episcopacy. And the message was clear: humility, prayer and learning to even more deeply recognize and follow the leadership of the Holy Spirit.

That happened in a very real way right after I got back, in the person of Scott Holcombe. When I mentioned celebrations of new ministry, I intentionally left out the installation service for Canon Scott Holcombe or, as he is known to our diocesan staff, "Canon Scott Holcombe with an e" or sometimes even "Scooter." His coming on diocesan staff can best be described as an answer to prayer. He is up for the challenge, gifted at multitasking, a bulldog about detail and ready for a laugh. He crisscrosses the diocese of an alarming rate, hence the name Scooter, and manages to keep every file on each church in order. I don't know how that happens. He can be tough, wonderfully kind and always – with his wife La Nora by his side – an amazing baker and host.

One of the biggest concerns I had when I returned from my sabbatical was who would be the next canon to the ordinary. I'd spoken to a number of highly recommended people, and there was never any green light inside regarding who that should be. It wasn't until after I returned from sabbatical, had lunch with Scott that I saw it. Scott's just telling me about where he'd been, what he'd been doing while I was away, connecting with other clergy besides the great work at St. David's. And as I listened, it was like, "Well, there he is. The right guy at the right place at the right time". So, Scooter, I cannot tell you how pleased I am that you are also now on our diocesan team.

One of the happy surprises of this past year was a conversation with the Rt. Rev. Patrick Augustine, which only deepened our friendship and opened a door of opportunity here in the Diocese of Central Florida. Bishop Augustine presently serves in the Anglican Diocese of Bor in the country of South Sudan – remember, there are two countries now in Sudan. Prior to being elected bishop, Father Augustine had a successful tenure, long-term actually, as the rector of Christ Church in La Crosse, Wisconsin. Father Augustine had visited South Sudan off and on for decades, and the people there knew and trusted him. So it was no surprise when he was elected their bishop, although it was highly unusual for an Episcopalian to be elected a bishop in southern Africa, and it was not without controversy.

With the express permission of the presiding bishop of The Episcopal Church, and under the authority of the Anglican archbishop of the Sudan, the election was confirmed, and Bishop Augustine, even now, is in South Sudan. If you follow Facebook, he posts something almost every day about what he's doing while he's there.

Here is the opportunity for us. Bishop Augustine retired with full pension as a priest in The Episcopal Church. So by his own admission, "I don't need any salary. I own a home in La Crosse." But the civil war in the Sudan has left Southern Sudan full of charred remains of what was a thriving and mostly Christian culture. The civil war left almost all of the buildings that housed Christian ministries, schools, hospitals, relief agencies and churches burned to the ground. Bishop Augustine has the challenge of not merely pastoring a group of people, all of whom suffer from some kind of trauma, but also of rebuilding the infrastructure of a society. Because of the war, no one in Sudan has much money to do any building for any sort of relief effort, and so – that's his real charge. In fact, one of the reasons he was selected, besides the fact that he is loved, is that he does not require a salary.

Bishop Augustine and I came up with a plan, and this is not just limited to us. What if Bishop Augustine visited our churches over a marked period of time, officially as my guest, able to preach, celebrate and confirm? If we were to invite him, we could privately raise the money to help his diocese in Sudan and cover his travel and lodging. He would stay annually for three months, during their rainy season, when they tell him, "We don't want you coming" for that is a time when the roads are washed out and there is a high chance that he could contract malaria. It is really better for him and Vera, his wife, to be out of the country during that season which would be March, April and May.

Presently there is no line item in the budget for this plan, but there is a lot of enthusiasm. He was here for our clergy conference and met a lot of the clergy. He has an infectious love for Jesus. He is an enthusiastic preacher and is the very definition of a Spirit-filled servant. The rector of Grace Church Ocala, Jonathan French, has volunteered to assist in private fundraising efforts to help cover the cost of his being with us three months per year. Our hope is to raise privately, for the four years left in my episcopacy, approximately $40,000 per year to cover travel and to send a significant portion of that money back to his diocese. If you are interested further in being about, in that any of that fundraising, please let either Father French or me know

We're going to organize a team of people, a small group, who will be a pastoral connection, both to pray for and to stand with Bishop Augustine as well as to coordinate efforts that we might make for that diocese. Dan and Evelyn Smith have already volunteered to help do that. In fact, Evelyn has been in Sudan, often bravely on her own, on a pretty regular basis. The Smiths know what they are volunteering for. If you're interested in learning more about this, please talk to them.

The new year began with a bang, meaning 2020, with "Pinder Palooza" or the "Pinder Extravaganza". In thanksgiving for 60 years of ordained service in The Episcopal Church, and particularly for his tenure at St. John the Baptist, Washington Shores, from 1959 to 1995. A packed-out crowd gathered at the Cathedral Church of St. Luke to thank God for "Father Pinder," as he is affectionately called by his former parishioners, and his ministry.

The presiding bishop returned to our diocese to preach; a mass gospel choir led us in worship. And in my comments at that service I said, "Anyone in Central Florida who works and believes in racial reconciliation is in his debt." He helped spare Orlando from racial violence during the civil rights movement and raised up a generation of Christian leaders who still proudly call themselves "Pinder's kids." He is a true hero, and still a man who loves and serves Jesus with his wife, Marian, with all of his heart. There may never be anyone else quite like him.

Turning around the bend toward the end, Lambeth 2020. One of the key events in the life of Anglican Communion will be the gathering of Anglican bishops from all over the world at Canterbury Cathedral the last two weeks of July. Significant meetings are being held between now and then, including a meeting in March of our own House of Bishops, and some other consultations that are taking place to prepare in the midst of forces that, in fact want us to break apart.

Why do we need the Anglican Communion anyway? Or, from another side of the fence, "You're not really Anglican." You've heard them of course. It is an extremely important gathering. Our beloved Anglican Communion, and I really mean this, is precious, and a visible unity that serves as a witness to the world that following Jesus includes everyone who desires to be his follower, regardless of race, nationality, education or family background. While our history of colonialism has scarred us deeply in this Communion, the Archbishop of Canterbury has been valiant in working tirelessly, calling us to be gracious in the face of our differences for the sake of a greater good, and that is our common witness to the world.

There are those in The Episcopal Church who desire to remain in the Communion, but only on their terms. And I have to say publicly, that is arrogance. As I said publicly in the House of Bishops, if each of us only wants to be in communion on our terms, we are no better than all of the groups that are broken away, or the host of other splinter groups who even though they are not in communion with Canterbury, still want to call themselves Anglican. That's just not true. You see, that's an American malaise. Anybody, if they like Calvin, can call themselves Presbyterians if they want to. Or if anybody who believes in ... believers' baptism can call themselves Methodists, congregational to the core.

Roman Catholicism, Anglicanism and orthodoxy have never affirmed that. We always believe that if you are going to identify yourself by the name of our tradition, you must be united in communion with the head. Whether that's Antioch, papacy or whether it's the archbishop of Canterbury. So you can call yourself whatever you like, but actually it is the instruments of unity that define the boundaries and clearly mark out the nature of our identity. Like I said, you can have your opinion about anything that you want. But the fact of the matter is, these three Communion understand unity as structure, not merely theology. That is one of the places where we are different.

So while there are a few bishops in The Episcopal Church who are choosing not to attend Lambeth as an act of protest because gay spouses are not invited, the presiding bishop is calling the bishops of The Episcopal Church to go, and I am looking forward to attending on your behalf.

I would never want to end my diocesan address, however, without expressing my gratitude for the team that God has given us. I'm grateful to God for Sarah Caprani, who always has a pop tune going on her computer and always makes me look good.

I'm also grateful for Archdeacon Alday, who supports me continuously, runs a diaconal training program that is the envy of many and has just made her ring tone, "Dropkick Me, Jesus, Through the Goalposts of Life."

I'm grateful to God for Canon Justin Holcomb, who is quick thinking, has a tender heart, loves whiskey, always sees the brighter side and is ever up for the adventure of a new challenge. I am grateful to our chancellor, Butch Wooten, who is never without resources, who always brings together the best of legal teams for any situation, and whose valuable opinions always start with, "You know, it occurs to me..." And after that pause, you'd better be paying attention.

Also, thank you to Vice Chancellor Bill Grimm, who could write the book on constitutional law and church bylaws. Your expertise is a ministry and gift to this diocese. Similar thanks to Wendy Leech, our communications officer, who's continued to up the game in this diocese in terms of our online communication as well as the diocesan paper, which is better than it has been in quite a long time.

I'm also grateful to God for our support staff, Marilyn Lang; Beverly Jennings, who we call the epicenter of St. Cloud; Ellen Ceely and Erick Perez. We are so grateful to all of them who put in far more hours than their salaries reflect, and are willing to pitch in whatever is needed regardless of whether or not it is in their job description. We are more than a list of employees; we enjoy each other's company, we pray together. And above all, we are a diocesan team whose pleasure it is to serve God and what God is doing in the Diocese of Central Florida.

As the bishop of the Diocese of Central Florida, I go into 2020 a very grateful man. I'm grateful for the opportunity to be able to serve you.

I still just love it. You are a people who deeply love Jesus, who hunger even more deeply for expressions of the kingdom of God. I look forward to our continuing to discern together what it means to be salt and light. I'm overjoyed that I can represent this diocese to the wider church and tell the stories of how God is blessing us with opportunities and challenges that costs us to humbly rise to the occasion, confident in the mercies of God.

I'm more grateful than I can say for Laura Lee, a wife who stands beside me as a partner in ministry, is my closest friend and continues to be an amazing mother and grandmother. And you need to know that there are places where she's more popular than I am. I still remember – I won't tell the church, but I pulled in. Laura Lee couldn't attend. There was a spot of course for the bishop, somebody was standing there to help me with my things. I get out of the car, his first words, not even hello, were, "Where's your wife?" Which was fine by me, by the way.

I always stand in need of prayer. I thank God that I am ever receiving it. I continue to be blessed and changed by God in this office, more than I could ever deserve. Thank you as well as God for an amazing year. And thank you very much for the honor and privilege of serving as your bishop.

I mentioned yesterday when we were taking up the offering for the Eucharist service, that all of the money received was going for efforts around continuing to raise up church planters and church planting. We have at this point, either on the books or in process, five different places where we are working on planting or are planting congregations. One of the plants that was recently launched (and I had the privilege to attend) was All Souls in Horizons West, a community that didn't exist before. I would like to invite Matt Ainsley, the priest-in-charge of this extraordinary new congregation, to come up, and very briefly give us greetings.

[Matt Ainsley] Thank you, Bishop, I'm excited to be up here. The thing that's been going over and over in my head is just that I'm grateful. I'm grateful not that we've arrived because we haven't arrived; we're just beginning. But it's been a heck of a start that we're off to. God has been so faithful.

And I'm so thankful for the bishop and the diocese for their support - not just the diocesan staff Canons Holcomb and Holcombe– the “Dream Team” - but for all of you as well. So many people have let us know that they're praying for us and they want to see how they can support us. And I've really been overwhelmed and encouraged by that.

We like to call Church of the Messiah our grandmother church. Father Tom Rutherford has been great there. The reason we do that is because they planted the church that planted All Souls, they planted the Church of the Ascension, back in 1980. I don't want to stand up here and cry, but what can I say about the Church of the Ascension and how they are sacrificing to birth this new church? and in particular, about Father Jim Sorvillo? When I went to him, as assistants get the itch, you know, and asked "what are we going to do next?" I went to him and I said, "Hey, I've got this opportunity, praying about this church plant; what do you think I should do?" I expected, "Hey, good luck, we'll be praying for you." And you know, I was bowled over because he said, "If you do it, we're going to help you do it."

It's so amazing to be around so many people whose concern is not seeing their name in lights, but being little lights, pointing to the light of the world that want to let their light so shine before men, not for their narcissistic ends, but that the world may glorify our Father which is in heaven.

I'm also grateful for our team, the launch team that – our congregation that's begun. This amazing group of people, and the privilege that we have to go into this burgeoning new community, and with St. Paul, “determined to know nothing except Christ and him crucified, to deliver unto them, which we have that which we have received, that Christ died for our sins, according to the scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised again, according to the scriptures,” and to lift up the Son of Man in the preaching of holy scripture and in the most holy sacrament, that as the collect said, "God may be worshipped and obeyed and known throughout all the earth that people would find the end for which they were created, which is to see God, to know God and to be united with Him.”

I 've got to finish up; the bishop told me I had three minutes. But I'm Baptist – I was Baptist - and my preaching hasn't converted yet, as you can tell. What's a 15-minute sermon? I don't know what that is.

But if I can encourage you, you know, what is success? Right? What's success as a church? Of course, I want All Souls to be around until Jesus Christ comes again to judge the living and the dead. And we want it to grow; that means we want more people, because every number represents a soul for whom Christ died, but ultimately, success. How do we know if we're successful? Is God pleased? Are we offering with our lives and with our worship and with our witness a sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving that is a sweet-smelling aroma to the nostrils of Almighty God? Because our primary mission is ministry to God to exalt Him and lift him up and to know Him and be united in Him, because that is the end for which were created. All right, I'm done.

[Bishop Brewer] I just want to say, as a very brief postscript, that when I walked into the school where All Souls is worshipping, which was beautifully set up— narthex, childcare, everything laid out - I was astonished at who I saw. I know and have known people at Ascension for a while and found myself asking "You're here too?"

In other words, Jim [Sorvillo], and really this is to your commending, you sent the "A-team": some extraordinary leaders who were willing to go out and launch. It was the embodiment of "Give and it shall be given back to you, pressed down, shaken together, running over." Most congregations are terrified of losing their key volunteers and their big donors. Precisely. Those were the people that Jim gave away. And God has blessed Ascension and God is blessing All Souls. It is a living testimony to that kind of work, that God is the one who provides for all of our needs.

R2: Do No Harm

Presented by: The Rev. Canon Angela S. Ifill
St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Haines City, FL

Isaiah Initiatives

Date: December 4, 2019

Results: January 25, 2020

RESOLVED: that we of this 51st Annual Convention of the Diocese of Central Florida Acknowledge that we are living in troubling times, surrounded by many who cause harm through their words and actions, and we must act as beacons of light; and be it further

RESOLVED: that we re-commit ourselves to the tradition of our faith as outlined in the Baptismal Covenant of the Episcopal Church to persevere in resisting evil, to proclaim by word and example the Good News of God in Christ, to seek and serve Christ in all persons, loving our neighbors as ourselves, to strive for justice and peace among all people and respect the dignity of every human being; and be it further

RESOLVED: that we practice the principle Do No Harm, interpreted to mean one's actions should not cause injury or injustice to another; and be it further

RESOLVED: that we give thanks for the leadership of this diocese and for the witness of the Episcopate in caring for all in this diocese and the world.

EXPLANATION:

We live in a society in which the media often clouds the differences between right and wrong, truth and fiction. Often, hatred is more apparent than love, and irreverence and disrespect are held in high esteem. It seems today that everything and anything goes in terms of dealing with one another - the truth has been corrupted, decency compromised, our Christian beliefs attacked, respect for one another and civility demeaned. Prayer was removed from public schools and other actions, taken in the name of political correctness, have created a vacuum in which children do not have the opportunity to learn our morals and values. This atmosphere is destructive to the values and morals which we, as a Christian people, believe.

We are called to be the church in the world. We are to uphold the values and morals and serve as an example in the midst of this darkness.

We cannot be afraid to share our beliefs through action and words. Our forefathers created government that called for separation of church and state, not a dismissal or ignorance of church. Belief in God has been part of America's story. When the pilgrims arrived on these shores, they were fleeing persecution and seeking religious freedom. Many words in our historical documents reflect a belief in God, such as the words of our Declaration of Independence, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Our currency is imprinted with the words "In God we trust."

All major religions of the world share some basic tenets. For example, below are "15 Great Principles Shared by All Religions" from Oeness: Great Principles Shared by All Religions by Jeffrey Moses:

1. The Golden Rule / Law of Reciprocity – The cornerstone of religious understanding. "Do unto others what you would have them do unto you."
2. Honor Thy Father and Mother – Knowing them is the key to knowing ourselves.
3. Speak the Truth
4. It's More Blessed to Give than to Receive – generosity, charity, and kindness
5. Heaven is Within

6. Love Thy Neighbor / Conquer With Love / All You Need is Love – Acts of faith, prayer and deep meditation provide us with the strength that allows love for our fellow man to become an abiding part of our lives. Love is a unifying force
7. Blessed Are the Peacemakers – When people live in the awareness that there is a close kinship between all individuals and nations, peace is the natural result
8. You Reap What You Sow
9. Man Does Not Live by Bread Alone – The blessings of life are deeper than what can be appreciated by the senses
10. Do No Harm – If someone tries to hurt another, it means that she is perceiving that person as something separate and foreign from herself
11. Forgiveness
12. Judge Not, Lest Ye Be Judged
13. Be Slow to Anger
14. There is but One God / God is Love – Nature, Being, The Absolute. Whatever name man chooses, there is but one God
15. Follow the Spirit of the Scriptures, Not the Words

In an era when there is violence and hatred spewed and displayed in the media, we must remember that actions speak louder than words; and we must demonstrate love, generosity, goodness, kindness, and forgiveness.

The Finance Commission

The Finance Commission met in February, March, April, May, June, August, September, October, and November 2019. In the course of these meetings, the commission reviewed the finances and investment portfolio of the Diocese, considered and responded to proposals and requests from various sources, including the Diocesan Board, diocesan congregations, diocesan commissions/committees/groups, and organizations outside of the Diocese, and made recommendations to the Diocesan Board. Actions in 2019 are summarized as follows:

Parochial and School Actions:

Church of the Resurrection in Longwood, FL

Recommended to the Diocesan Board that it approve the formal plan from Church of the Resurrection in Longwood, FL, to address the pledge arrears from 2007 and 2008. The project entails the following:

- Resurrection will pay ½ the current 2019 Assessment of in 2019 ($32,755.50) and defer the other ½ of the 2019 Assessment into a Pledge/Assessment Arrears liability account in Resurrection's accounting system along with the outstanding arrears from 2007 and 2008.
- Resurrection will pay its full assessment starting in 2020. In addition to current assessment payments, it will begin paying additional amounts beginning in August 2020 to reduce the Pledge/Assessment Arrears liability account to zero by July 31, 2025.

Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy (HTEA) in Melbourne, FL

Recommend to the Diocesan Board that it approve the request from Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy to borrow up to $6 million from Seacoast National Bank via two separate loans:

Loan 1: $4.0 million revolving LOC to support a $5.5 million capital campaign to improve athletic facilities at the Upper School campus.

- $4,000,000 Revolving line of credit
- 3.5% Fixed for the term of the loan
- 36 months, on-demand
- Interest due monthly
- Collateral: Blanket UCC lien and agreement not to encumber the property at 5625 Holy Trinity Drive, Melbourne, FL 32940

Loan 2: $2.0 million - refinancing the existing mortgage currently held by Wells Fargo with Seacoast National Bank.

- No incurrence of new or additional debt
- 3.5% fixed for the term of the loan,
- Seven years, 7-year amortization
- principal and interest for the 84-month term
- Collateral: Blanket UCC lien and agreement not to encumber the property at 5625 Holy Trinity Drive, Melbourne, FL 32940
- $3,000 loan fee

Other Diocesan Institutions:

Canterbury Retreat & Conference Center in Oviedo, FL

Recommended to the Diocesan Board that it approve the request from Canterbury Retreat & Conference Center to borrow up to $440,000 from Citizens Bank in Oviedo, FL via two separate loans:

Loan 1: Line of Credit (LOC):

- Amount: $100,000 Revolving line of credit

- Terms: Prime - .25% floating rate (currently 4.75%), Interest only payments due monthly
- Loan fee: 1% ($1,000)
- Collateral: Real property at 1601 Alafaya Trail, Oviedo, FL 32765

Loan 2: Mortgage Modification (re-amortize)

- Amount: $339,000
- Terms: 4.75% There will be no change to the six years remaining on this loan.
- Loan fee: 0.5%
- Collateral: Real property at 1601 Alafaya Trail, Oviedo, FL 32765

Diocesan and Non-Parochial Actions:

Minutes of meetings, Treasurer's Reports, and Investment Reports were reviewed, revised (when necessary), and accepted at each meeting.

Oral reports in each meeting informed the commission on the actions taken by the Annual Convention, Diocesan Board, and Executive Committee between meetings.

Reviewed year to date Congregational Assessment Payment figures throughout the year and contacted parishes that appeared to be behind in their assessment payments to the Diocese.

2019 Operating Budget, the commission recommended that the Diocesan Board approve modifications to the 2019 Operating Budget in response to various facts, circumstances, and requests encountered throughout the year.

Reviewed and accepted the 2018 Audit Report and recommended that the Diocesan Board do so as well.

2020 Health and Dental Group Insurance Plan Renewal: Recommended that the Diocesan Board designate that the Diocese of Central Florida's 2020 Group Insurance Plan Renewal with the Episcopal Church Medical Trust incorporates:

- four-tier rates,
- the standard prescription plan,
- three CIGNA health insurance plans:
 - MHDC: Cigna CDHP-20/HSA,
 - MG03: Cigna Open Access Plus PPO 80 (designated as the Diocesan Standard Plan),

- MGM3: Cigna Open Access Plus MSP PPO 80,
- three Cigna dental plans:
 - DDPV: Preventative Dental PPO Plan,
 - DD50: Basic Dental PPO Plan, and
 - DD25: Dental and Orthodontia PPO Plan.

2020 Clergy Compensation Guideline: recommended that the Diocesan Board approve a clergy compensation guideline for 2020 that incorporates a 1.8% Cost of Living Adjustment (COLA). The COLA was determined by the change in the consumer price index for all urban consumers (CPI-U) as reported by the U.S. Department of Labor for the period from July 2018 to July 2019, which is consistent with the methodology used in prior years. A clergyperson in the Diocese of Central Florida with 15 years of credited service in a congregation with an average Sunday attendance of 150 would receive a 1.43% COLA.

2020 Spending Policy: for Congregational and Diocesan Trust Funds recommended that the Diocesan Board set the 2020 Spending Policy for the separate accounts in the Congregational and Diocesan Trust Funds as up to 4% (rounded to the nearest 100) of the fair market value as of June 30, 2019.

2020 Operating Budget: Reviewed budget requests, developed and recommended a balanced 2020 Operating Budget that was ultimately adopted by the Diocesan Board as its recommended budget to the 51st Annual Convention.

Housing Allowance Resolutions: recommended that the Diocesan Board adopt a proposed housing allowance resolution for 2020.

Florida Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (FUPMIFA) Reporting: recommended that the Diocesan Board minutes reflect, per FUPMIFA, the fact that with all funds held by the Diocese of Central Florida, the Finance Commission had reviewed and documented per this statement relevant issues in managing and investing the funds. The considerations included such factors as duration and preservation of the endowment fund; the purpose of the fund, general economic conditions; possible effect of inflation or deflation; expected total return; and the funds' investment policies. Noting the majority of Diocesan funds are "program-related" assets and hence administered under the Prudent Investor Rule, not FUPMIFA. Also, the donor's directive instructs the management of the Slemaker endowment fund.

Contingency Plan: recommended to the Diocesan Board that:

- any surplus up to $55,000 in the operating fund post to its fund balance to build up reserves
- any surplus above $55,000 and under $100,950 transfers back to the Church Expansion Fund with a corresponding pre-approved budget modification that decreases the income grant from the Church Expansion Fund
- finally, any surplus above $100,950 is transferred to the Werk Trust in the Designated Fund with a corresponding pre-approved budget modification that decreases other revenues in the Operating Budget.
